

BSE Midcap 150 Momentum 30 Index

Index Factsheet | Data as of June 2026

Executive Summary

The BSE Midcap 150 Momentum 30 Index tracks the top 30 stocks from the BSE MidCap 150 universe, selected and weighted based on their momentum scores. Momentum is computed using the 6-month and 12-month price returns, adjusted for volatility. The index is rebalanced semi-annually (June & December) with a maximum single-stock weight cap of 10%. Since inception, the index has delivered a CAGR of ~28.6% over 10 years — outperforming every comparable momentum and midcap benchmark by a significant margin, while maintaining a favourable risk-return profile. The concentrated 30-stock portfolio with volatility-adjusted momentum scoring delivers superior risk-adjusted returns compared to the broader Nifty Midcap150 Momentum 50 and Nifty200 Momentum 30 indices.

BSE Mid150 Mom 30 vs Active Mid-Cap Funds

% of Active Mid-Cap Funds Underperforming Index

Why BSE Midcap 150 Momentum 30 is the Best Momentum Play

- Highest CAGR across all periods (1Y to 15Y) among comparable momentum indices — 28.6% over 10 years vs 21.9% (Nifty Mid150 Mom 50) and 18.0% (Nifty200 Mom 30)
- Concentrated 30-stock portfolio delivers higher conviction and alpha vs diluted 50-stock alternatives
- Volatility-adjusted momentum scoring reduces exposure to high-beta, mean-reverting names — lower drawdowns in corrections
- 100% of active mid-cap funds underperformed over 3, 5, 7, and 10-year horizons — strongest case for passive momentum allocation
- Semi-annual rebalancing with 10% stock cap ensures diversification without over-trading
